

“Distinguished Service Award” To Dedicated Servicemen

News from Headquarter (Calgary, Canada, February 16, 2005) – Just shortly after the 2005 Chinese New Year, the headquarter office is pleased to announce on February 16 that three plaques have been manufactured and are being sent to the recipients, who have been recognized by the entire CPGPS community for their significant dedication and contribution to the development and promotion of CPGPS in the past years. This type of award is set up to recognize the CPGPS members who have provided a recognized significant service to CPGPS members and to the development and promotion of CPGPS community. The recipients of the 2004 “Distinguished Service Award” are Dr. Detang Zhong for his outstanding contribution to the CPGPS website development, Dr. Yamin Dang for his outstanding contribution to the organization of the first “Young Scientist Forum”, and Dr. Zhizhao Liu for his outstanding contribution to CPGPS activities. The issue of this type of award is the first time in CPGPS history. Congratulations to Drs. Zhong, Dang and Liu for receiving such a great honour from our community and thank you for your distinguished services to our community!

The plaques to Drs. Zhong and Dang are being mailed out from Calgary. Please see how beautiful these plaques are!

Dr. Detang Zhong is recognized for his outstanding contribution to the CPGPS website development

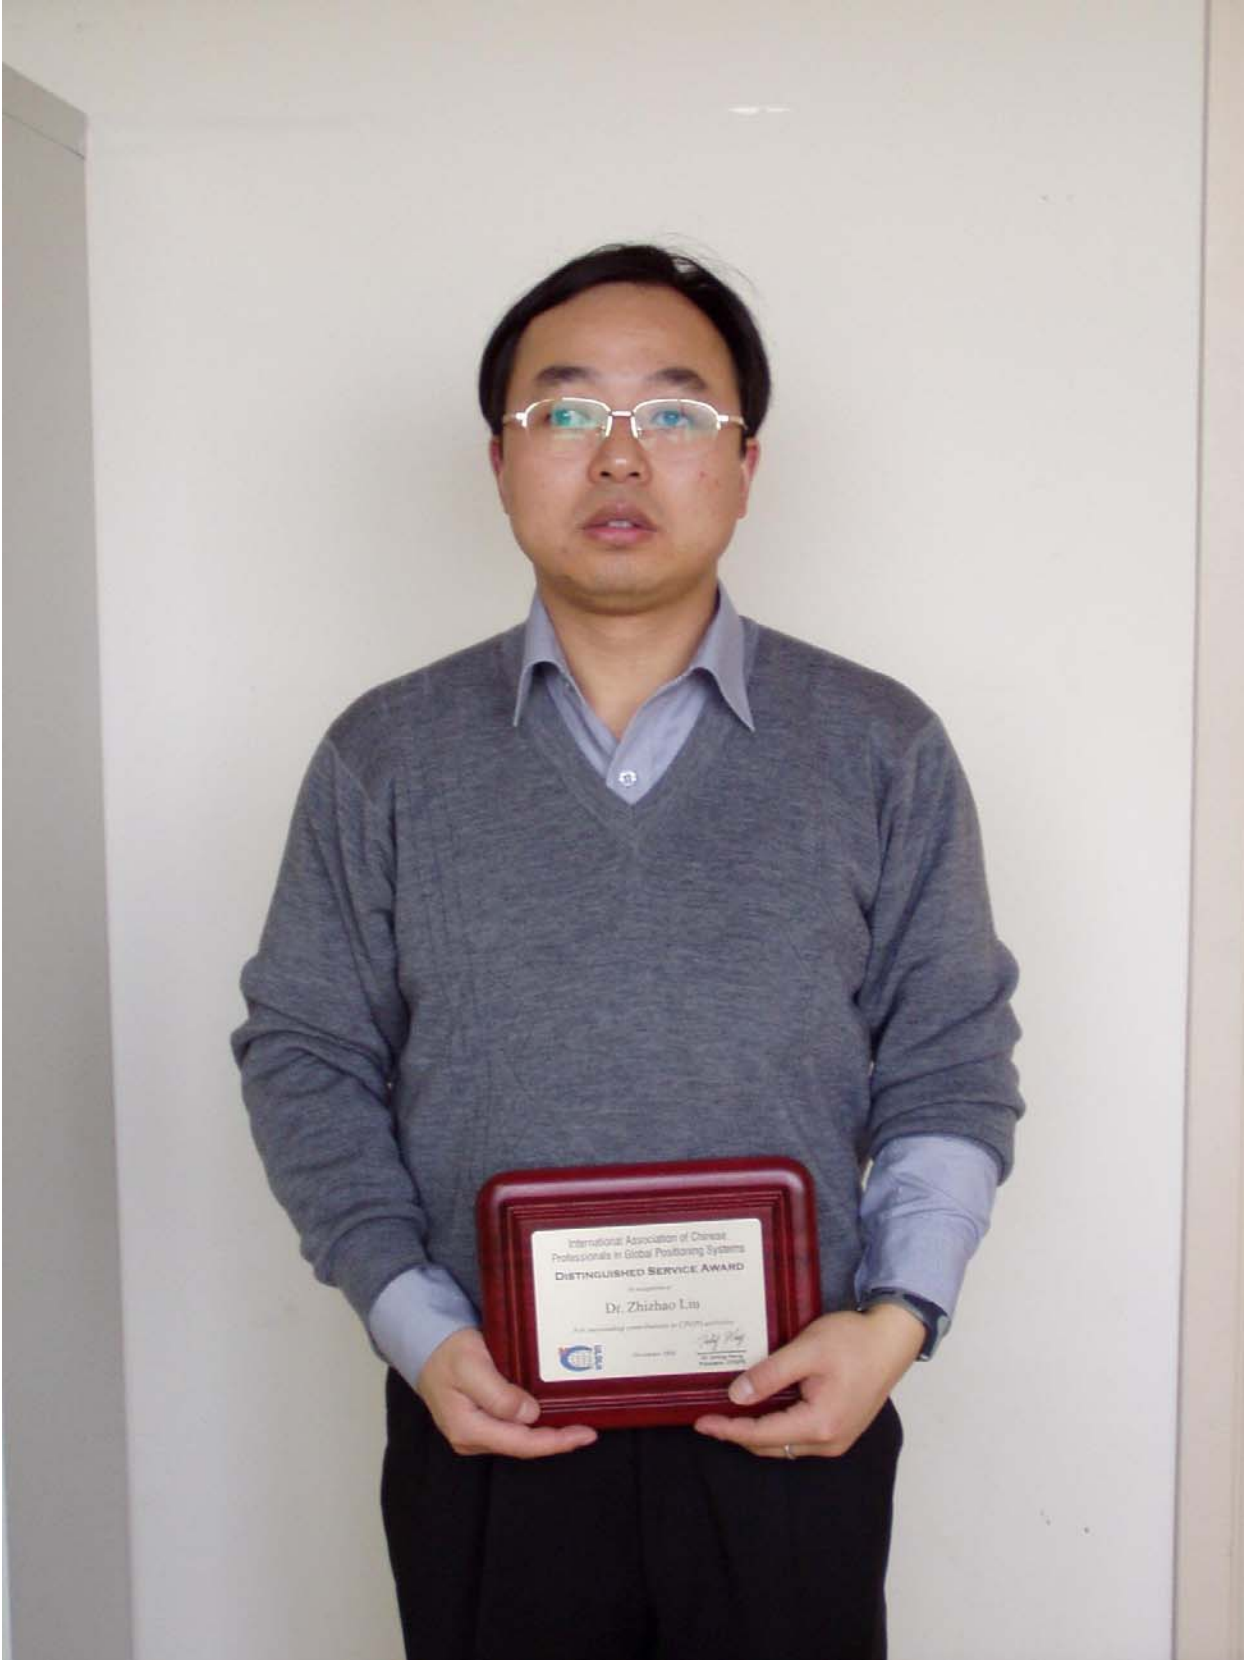

Dr. Yamin Dang is recognized for his outstanding contribution to the organization of the first “Young Scientist Forum”

Dr. Zhizhao Liu is recognized for his outstanding contribution to CPGPS activities

Dr. Zhizhao Liu is happily presenting his plaque